

PRESS RELEASE

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Contact: Catherine Rogers
catherine.rogers@arbitratorintelligence.com

ARBITRATOR INTELLIGENCE INC OFFERS ARBITRATOR INTELLIGENCE REPORTS FOR SALE

PENNSYLVANIA, JULY 15, 2020 - Arbitrator Intelligence Inc announced that it will offer its first "Arbitrator Intelligence Reports" for sale via its website (www.arbitratorintelligence.com). The availability of Arbitrator Intelligence Reports represents another landmark in the growth of Arbitrator Intelligence and a long-awaited technological upgrade for the arbitrator selection process.

Arbitrator Intelligence Reports provide users, for the first time, with previously unavailable, but highly valuable, data-driven insights regarding arbitrators' case management and decision making. These specialized insights will enable users to make more informed and predictable decisions in selecting arbitrators.

Quantitative and qualitative feedback for Arbitrator Intelligence Reports is collected from users and counsel at the conclusion of individual arbitrations through an anonymous online questionnaire called the "Arbitrator Intelligence Questionnaire" or "AIQ." Arbitrator Intelligence compiles the anonymized data collected through the AIQ to produce individual Arbitrator Intelligence Reports that are now available through Arbitrator Intelligence's website.

Below is a graphic overview of the process:

HOW IT WORKS

Arbitrator Intelligence Reports allow members of the arbitration community to start their arbitrator research with key data on crucial issues, to find the right arbitrator for their dispute, to obtain insights about other arbitrators sitting on the tribunal, and to develop case strategy based on a nuanced understanding of the tribunal's decisional history.

Arbitrator Intelligence has an exclusive Membership Program, which entitles subscribed Members to receive substantial discounts on Arbitrator Intelligence Reports in exchange for providing feedback via AIQs. Membership is free and prospective members can obtain further information here.

“Arbitrator Intelligence Reports are both a natural evolution from the recent spate of arbitrator-related transparency reforms and a disruptive innovation that will help reshape the market for international arbitrators. Our Reports will enable parties and counsel to identify more efficiently and effectively the best arbitrators for their disputes.” said Catherine Rogers, Founder and CEO of Arbitrator Intelligence.

Gary B. Born, Chair of the International Arbitration Practice Group, Wilmer Cutler Pickering Hale & Dorr LLP and President of the Singapore International Arbitration Centre Court of Arbitration said: “Arbitrator Intelligence Reports are a technological and informational upgrade to make arbitrator appointments more predictable and the arbitral process even more effective.”

Arbitrator Intelligence is working in collaboration with Wolters Kluwer. Arbitrator Intelligence Reports will supplement and support Wolters Kluwer's arbitrator tool and library of premier international arbitration resources.

“Arbitrator Intelligence will increase the transparency and diversity of arbitration proceedings by making available state-of-the-art data on arbitrators to the arbitration community. Wolters Kluwer has supported this important initiative from its inception and is delighted that the first reports are now available” said Gwen de Vries, Director, Market Development & Publishing, Wolters Kluwer Legal & Regulatory International Group.

The launch of the Arbitrator Intelligence Reports is the latest in a series of exciting developments for Arbitrator Intelligence:

- Arbitrator Intelligence was featured as one of top 50 companies identified by the National Law Journal in its 2020 'Emerging Legal Technologies' publication;
- Penn State's IP Navigator named Arbitrator Intelligence one of the university's top 40 emerging technologies available for licensing; and
- Arbitrator Intelligence won 2nd prize in Invent Penn State's Venture & IP Conference's Tech Tournament.

About Arbitrator Intelligence

Arbitrator Intelligence Inc is a global information aggregator that collects and analyzes critical information about international arbitrator decision making. Arbitrator Intelligence collects from users and counsel unique quantitative and qualitative feedback about key features of arbitrator decision making. Information is collected through the Arbitrator Intelligence Questionnaire (AIQ). Topics include timing and duration, case management and procedural orders, document disclosure, rulings on jurisdiction and interim relief, damages analysis, and legal methodologies. Data analytics from this information will provide parties and counsel critical insights about arbitrators' track records to improve arbitrator selection and case strategy. To learn more about Arbitrator Intelligence, please visit www.arbitratorintelligence.com or contact Founder and CEO Catherine Rogers at catherine.rogers@arbitratorintelligence.com.